Fed bosses agree on rate cut needs

ANN SAPHIR & HOWARD SCHNEIDER
September 3

AS RECENTLY AS two and a half months ago, most US central bankers didn't see an interest rate cut in the cards at their September 17-18 meeting.

By the end of last month, when Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell said it was time to start lowering borrowing costs, nearly all of his colleagues thought so too.

In large part, that was because a wide range of data moved in one direction. That pushed Fed policymakers to reassess the risks to their outlook, including whether the chief concern should be persistent inflation, labour market weakness, a deterioration in business or household financial conditions, a potential policy mistake, or some combination of those factors.

"It's not one thing that causes everyone to move. It's different people focus on different data, different indicators, different risks, and then they all end up in the same place," said Kristin Forbes, an economics professor at MIT's Sloan School of Management and a former member of the Bank of England's policy-setting committee.

Speaking on the sidelines of the Kansas City Fed's annual economic symposium in Jackson Hole, Wyoming, last month, where Powell declared the time had

IN A NUTSHELL

■ 2025 onwards, all iPhone models will move entirely away from LCDs to OLED displays

■ Apple first used OLED panels in iPhone X in 2017, and has since switched to OLEDs for premium iPhone models

■ The planned move will exclude Japan's Sharp and Japan Display from Apple's handset business play from Apple's handset business, Nikkei said.

Apple has begun placing orders for OLED displays for the upcoming iPhone SE model from China's BOETechnology and South Korea's LG Display, according to Nikkei.

Sharp and Japan Display had a combined 70% share of iPhone displays about a decade ago but had supplied LCDs only for the iPhone SE recently and do not mass-produce OLED displays for smartphones, the report added.

Russian missiles kill 50 in Ukraine

AT LEAST 50 people were killed and 271 wounded when Russia hit a military institute in Ukraine's central town of Poltava with two ballistic missiles on Tuesday, the war's deadliest single attack this year. Photographs posted on social media showed several bodies of young men on the ground covered in dust and debris, with the badly damaged side of a large building behind them. "The Russian scum will definitely be held accountable for this strike," President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said on the Telegram messaging app.

He ordered a full and prompt investigation, saying the strike damaged a building of the Military Institute of Communications. The emergency service gave the death toll of 50; other officials said 51 were killed. —REUTERS

Starlink is the new conflict between Musk, Brazil

RICARDO BRITO & LUCIANA MAGALHAES
September 3

TENSIONS BETWEEN BRAZIL and Elon Musk's business empire ratcheted up further as the country's telecoms regulator threatened to sanction his satellite broadband company Starlink hours after its top court stood behind a controversial decision to ban social network X from the country.

Brazil's President backed top court's decision to suspend X

Brazil's President Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva also backed the top court's Judge Alexandre de Moraes' decision to suspend X. The judge found that X allowed postings of hate messages and falsehoods about the country's electronic voting system that undermined Brazil's democracy. "The Brazilian judiciary may have given an important signal that the world is not obliged to put up with Musk's far-right ideology just because he is rich," Lula said in an interview with CNN Brasil released on Monday.

Reacting to the judge's earlier move to freeze Starlink's accounts for possible use to pay fines owed by X, Musk said in an X posting that he would seek a reciprocal seizure of Brazilian assets, but did not say how. —REUTERS
